

Dr. Bakeyah Nelson has been working to improve public health for the past several years in the Houston region. Prior to joining Air Alliance Houston, Dr. Nelson most recently served as a consultant supporting work to advance the dialogue about the policies and practices that produce health inequities. She previously served in the Office of Policy and Planning for Harris County Public Health where she was responsible for monitoring community health status throughout Harris County and facilitating the planning and implementation of community-based assessment initiatives to improve health.