

Delilah Ogho-OtoghileDeputy Field Director, Battleground Texas

Delilah Agho-Otoghile is the Deputy Field Director for Battleground Texas. She is a native Houstonian who's excited to be back organizing in Texas! Raised in Fort Bend County, Delilah attended The Pennsylvania State University where she studied Philosophy and Political Science. After working as an organizer for Martin O'Malley in the Iowa Caucus, she served as a Regional Organizing Director for Hillary Clinton's Campaign in Florida. Delilah returned to Texas as a Field Director for Equality Texas in February 2017 – running a conservative canvass during the Legislative Session. Last summer, she joined Battleground Texas as the Harris County Regional Coordinator. Currently, Delilah works everyday to make voting a reality for more Texans and hopes to turn Texas into a battleground state by treating it like one.
